The Rockford Dubbed Avi Utorrent Free Watch Online

It's always fun to shoot photos of vehicles on location that are being used in the movies or TV. The production crews are always scurrying around madly, while in some other area the extras and cast that aren't in that particular scene are standing around killing time. We wanted to take a look at the pickup which is ostensibly owned and driven by Noah Beery, who plays Jim Rockford's dad "Rocky" in the TV series The Rockford Files.

Vic Hickey had provided a lot of his custom accessories for the '76 GMC Sierra Classic pickup, and James Garner had lovingly seen that it received some custom paint and striping as well, so we thought it might be of interest to our readers. Garner obviously enjoys being involved with the truck, and was very helpful to us, moving it around taking off the tonneau cover and generally being a good guy, despite the fact that he was right in the middle of a hectic shooting schedule.

The truck runs a warmed-over 400-inch engine, Turbo 400 automatic, 3.73 rear end and a 4-wheel drive setup from the factory. Hickey has added the winch, brush guard, hub covers, side step-plates in the bed, auxiliary gas tanks (52 gallons total) and the custom steering wheel. Cibie driving lights are fitted on the front bumper and the rear roll bar, another Hickey item. The cab boasts a Pace CB radio, and the exterior paint is silver with maroon panels and orange pinstriping.

Keep watching the tube and you'll see this truck in action! ●
